THE BELGIAN HARE.

If His Leglets is to Supplant the Corn-fed Steer as Food Now is His Time to Do It.

Has the beef trust bought up the Belgian hares? Only a few years ago we were told that breeders of those domesticated and cultivated jack rabbits could amass fortunes that the skins and the fur of the nimble animals would be in constant demand at profitable figures, while the flesh would be so much prized that roasts pig, possum fat and poultry snatched from peaceful slumbers in the dark of the moon would be despised in comparison. Heavy IV of France declared that he should never be contented until every peasant in his kingdom had a fowl in his pot. The benevolent importers of the agile leapers from the European continent were equally anxious to do good. They were never weary of assuring every body that the Belgian hare was so prolific that he would soon put the stalled ox or the corn-fed steer and the fatted calf to flight as resources of food supply, and that as a delicacy for the table he would excel in exquisite flavor the choicest of terrapin and green turtle, of curried oysters and broiled lobsters, of spring turkeys and Philadelphia capons, of woodcock and canvasback ducks, and even the most delicate of Strasburg pigs.

What has become of the Belgian hare? Not many months have passed since his praises were sounded and written in enthusiastic utterances and articles. Cal. Mulberry Sellers was hardly more eloquent in describing the glittering treasures which might be secured by the sale of his incomparable remedy for the healing of sore eyes among the swarming millions of Asia and of Africa than the promoters of the Belgian boom were in revealing the opportunities for locating up riches on fagus derelict to the production of the long-eared, bottled bouncers. But on the bills of fare of American hotels and restaurants there are soups and hams in any form no more conspicuous and no more in request than they were a quarter of a century ago, and among the Croissants of the day it would not be easy to find one whose mouth has been acquired by experiments with the elongated and enlarged consins to the conies. The Old Testament informs us that the conies of primitive times were a feeble folk. Their Belgian kith and kin in this era have failed to sweep everything before them, as their enthusiasts predicted they would do. Has the Belgian hare a future?—N. Y. Tribune.

Out of Death's Jaws.

"When death seemed very near from a severe stomach and liver trouble, that I had suffered with for years," writes P. M. Durham, N. C., "Dr. King's New Life Pills saved my life and gave perfect health." Best pills on earth and only 25c at Perry & Sons' drug store.

At the Price of Suffering.

Women on their way to auto-mutilation caused by the use of cheap and inferior medicine, should be warned to avoid the use of the true cure—Mother's Friend.

SECRETS

Women on their way to auto-mutilation caused by the use of cheap and inferior medicine, should be warned to avoid the use of the true cure—Mother's Friend.

Mother's Friend

is a stimulant for external use only. It would indeed be necessary to the success of modern medicine to prevent the use of such a drug as Mother's Friend, but it is not a drug as such. It is a natural product of the human body, and it is the only medicine that can be used without harm.

Cutting Down Hillside Timber

When we see a farmer laying an axe at the roots of forest trees on a hillside which form a nice sady grove under which the stock can seek the shade in summer and protect themselves from the cold blasts in the winter, we feel like enjoining him on the spot. When left with the natural growth of timber on the hill, the hand will produce certain kinds of grass in the more open spots, and at intervals trees may be removed to be used as fuel. But when denuded entirely of its growth it begins to wash and presents a spectacle of unsightly hollows and gullies. Then the efforts of the owner from the time forward must be in the direction of preventing measures to stop the washing, in order that the good land above may not be injured. At a farmers' institute last winter the writer listened to the speaker discuss the methods of preventing land of this character washing, but not one Daniel arose and advised that the matter should be remedied by getting good growth of healthy forest trees back on it as soon as possible. Yet this is the only sure for the hillside washing—all others are merely temporary makeshifts.—Ex.

Big Money for Mules.

Last Friday Mr. W. C. Terhune received a dispatch from Mr. Philip Shindig, of York, Pa., to buy him the best pair of mules in Kentucky. Mr. Terhune wired him that they cost him a big pile of money. The answer was to buy them if they cost $2,000. Mr. Terhune wired him that they cost him a big pile of money. The answer was to buy them if they cost $2,000.

War is Over.

A dispatch from Benwood, W. Va., says: "The familiar expression, 'don't know the war is over,' was exemplified to-day by William Wiley, of the backwoods of Wetzel county, who took his first ride on the 'car' and came up here to visit relatives. He had not been away from his habitation on the headwaters of Fishing Creek since Lee's army surrendered, and for all he knew the 'Civil War' and 'Johnnies' were still firing away at each other. He sang to a delighted crowd the song 'Secession Rebels,' with a spirit that recalled the days of '61. There are 15 verses to the song, which has been the chief piece of music in his neck of the woods for 45 years. Wiley was much surprised that it did not have a better run among the city folk here. As a singer Wiley succeeded in drawing a crowd, and he stated that after taking a pinch of salt he would be willing to go up against any of the city chivalry songsters.

Billfulness and liver disorders at this season may be prevented by cleansing the system with Dr. King's New Life Pills. These pills are the only pills that do not grip. They move the bowels gently but completely, and the result of the good properties is ease and strength to the glands.

A Playful Sheep.

Dr. W. B. Davidson, of the Cedar Springs country, has severely bitten by a pet sheep on last Saturday afternoon. Dr. Davidson had for some time been finding amusement in playing with the sheep, which had learned to make sheep-like demonstrations of war, which carried the Doctor back to the days of his youth, when the Sunday was most pleasantly and profitably spent when the greatest number of butters could be hemmed in the barnyard. The warlike demonstrations amused the Doctor, but his eighty-one years of experience with things of this life had taught him caution, that he could not repeat the performances of youth with impunity, even if physically able, therefore he would always consider his belongings just before the enemy would charge and had there they swooped in.

BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, or blood must have bone food and so on through the list.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it. In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood.

Blackbirds as Tobacco Hands.

If this story from the Harrodsburg Herald is true the average tobacco grower might find it profitable to keep on hand a flock of domesticated blackbirds.

Mr. R. W. Anderson, of Shaker Bend, informed us of the great good done him by a flock of blackbirds some days ago. He had employed two men to worm his tobacco, and while they were standing on the back porch receiving instructions from him, myriads of the birds came out of the cliffs and lighted in the tobacco and began cleaning it of worms. Fearing that it would knock them out two or three days work Mr. Anderson says one of them grabbed a shotgun and the other a rifle and started for the tobacco patch on a run to scare them away, but he stopped them and told them to let the birds alone and he would find something for them to do. In an hour the birds flew away, and an investigation showed that not a worm was left. He put the men to work enlarging his tobacco barn.

The State Secretary of the Kentucky Children's Home Society.

The State Secretary of the Kentucky Children's Home Society has sent out a communication to all the papers in the state calling attention to a law enacted by the last legislature to regulate the importation of child labor from other states. Owing to the fact that we have hitherto had no prohibitory laws, Kentucky has been imposed upon by other states who send out not only dependent, destitute, and feeble minded children, but have placed a large number of criminal children from penal institutions here to become charges upon us. Unquestionably this law should be rigidly enforced and those found guilty of violating it should be rigorously punished, and it is to assist them in finding out the violations of the law that the Society asks the Co-operation of the state press.

Theodore Roosevelt on "The Presidency."

Before his nomination for the Vice-Presidency Theodore Roosevelt wrote expressly for The Youth's Companion an article on "The Presidency." It will be published in the number for November 6, this being one of the remaining weekly issues of 1902 sent free from the time of subscription to every new subscriber who at once sends $1.75 for The Companion's 1903 volume. When this article on "The Presidency" was written no one could have foreseen or dreamed even that its author would soon be called upon to take up the duties of the great office.

For this reason alone what Mr. Roosevelt has to say possesses extraordinary interest, and will be eagerly awaited by persons of all shades of political opinion.

A twenty-eight-page Prospectus of the 1903 volume of The Youth's Companion and sample copies of the paper will be sent free to any address.
